BCC Transfer Day set for Thur., Oct. 13

BCC’s Transfer Center will hold its annual Transfer Day from 10 a.m. to 1 p.m., Thur., Oct. 13, in the college’s atrium. The event will host a variety of college and university representatives who will give advice on how students can transfer to universities. Transfer Day reps also provide a wealth of information on student services and financial aid availability. Let your students know.

“Passions, Provocations and Prophecies,” readings and discussion from works by the late Pier Paolo Pasolini, poet, educator, filmmaker and writer, take place 7-9 p.m., Tue., Nov. 1, in Berkeley City College’s auditorium. Part of BCC’s “Sorrows of War/Struggles for Peace” series, readings will focus on war, resistance and revolution from In Danger: A Pasolini Anthology which features his political and war time writings; and from the Revolutionary Poets Brigade Anthology, a multilingual work which focuses on themes of cultural resistance and political commitment.

The free and open-to-the-public event is sponsored in part by the Jerry L. Adams Endowment of the Berkeley Community Fund, a faculty grant from the Peralta Colleges Foundation, BCC’s Department of Arts and Cultural Studies, and UC Berkeley’s Department of Italian Studies. Authors and translators include Jack Hirschman, editor of the Pasolini anthology, devorah major, Sharon Douibiago, Dee Allen, Steven Gray, Agneta Falk, Judith Ayn Bernhard, Susanna Bonetta and Jonathan Richman.

Born in Bologna in 1922, Pasolini spent his early years in various small towns of Northern Italy. Outside Italy, Pasolini is remembered as one of the most significant of the directors who emerged in the early 1960s second wave of Italian postwar cinema but, within Italy and by 1961 when he directed Accattone, his first film, he had already published numerous collections of poetry, two highly-acclaimed novels, had collaborated widely in cultural-literary journal articles and firmly established himself as one of Italy’s leading writer-intellectuals. In the 15 years that followed, before he was murdered in 1975, Pasolini made 12 feature films and half a dozen shorts, wrote, translated and sometimes directed theatrical works, published several more poetry collections, two volumes of critical essays, painted more than 40 canvases and, through his numerous articles in journals and columns in daily newspapers, became the loudest dissenting voice in Italian political and cultural debate.

College opens new computer lab for homework, study
