

PATRICK KRUGER

BCC ACHIEVEMENTS:

- AA DEGREE ENGLISH LANGUAGE & LITERATURE
- LIBERAL ARTS IGETC CERTIFICATE OF ACHIEVEMENT
- 2017 VALEDICTORIAN

Patrick Kruger is the Valedictorian of Berkeley City College's Class of 2017. Patrick was one of the writers behind The BCC Voice where he served as Editor-in-Chief for two terms. The BCC Voice is published twice per semester, and is entirely written by student authors. The newsletter allows students the opportunity to write for a real audience, while offering a voice for Berkeley City College students.

The Minnesota native followed his girlfriend to Berkeley in 2011 to support her educational goals and in doing so discovered his own. "Berkeley City College is the most vibrant and encouraging learning community that I have ever been a part of. BCC students genuinely root for and support each other and the instructors challenge and inspire students to succeed." Patrick said. "BCC is a place where all students are welcome and all aspirations are embraced." Patrick also served as a writing tutor in the BCC English Department is continuing his education in the fall at Columbia University.

"Berkeley City College is the most vibrant and encouraging learning community that I have ever been a part of. BCC students genuinely root for and support each other and the instructors challenge and inspire students to succeed."

#WeAreBCC

<http://facebook.com/BerkeleyCC>

<http://instagram.com/BerkeleyCC>

<http://twitter.com/BerkeleyCC>