Mr. Bernard,

Thank you for reaching out. There are a couple of options here

- We can remove the questions under the DMCA
 - Our DMCA policy can be found here: <https://www.chegg.com/copyright>
 - Our DMCA form can be found here: <https://www.chegg.com/a/p/copyright/chipro-form.pdf> once this form is completed, we can remove the content from our site.
- If you would like to open an Honor Code investigation (which could include removing the questions you alluded to in your email as well as providing the information that you requested), the request must come directly from the office of the dean or the body in charge of handling matters of academic investigation at the university. The written request must be made on university letterhead and indicate that the information is needed as part of an official school investigation into academic integrity. The letter must be dated, signed and include URLs or any other information that is relevant to the investigation. You can scan and email the letter back to this thread or fax it to: (408) 521-0400.

Please let us know how you would like us to proceed.

Thank you

Subject: Remove My Material from Chegg

Hello,

I recently found one of my previous test questions on your site.

<https://www.chegg.com/homework-help/questions-and-answers/33-10-points-end-recent-drought-california-homeowners-began-consider-alternatives-maintain-q35622472>

The linked question was modified from an earlier question that I also found on your site. Please remove these questions and let me know the best way I can make sure that any other of my questions are removed and reduce the likelihood of future questions making it to your site.

Are students paid for submitting questions?

Thank you.

Best,

Chris Bernard
